THE WILDLIFE WALK

IN SUPPORT OF THE BORN FREE FOUNDATION

Walking for MENELIK

This tiny cheetah was found late in 2008 in a dusty town on the edge of a North eastern desert in Ethiopia. Tied by a string at the back of a shop he was very small and malnourished and was alternately petted and kicked. With the help of the Wildlife Authority he was finally confiscated and is now thriving. Menelik will soon be rehomed at Born Free Foundation's new wildlife sanctuary in Ethiopia. – but money is needed to look after him. Please come and walk with us so that we can give Menelik a happy life.
